WANNEROO entrepreneurs celebrated their business achievements over the past year at the seventh annual City of Wanneroo Business Awards night on November 5.

Mayor Jon Kelly, City chief executive Daniel Simms and MLA Paul Miles were among the 180 guests, members and sponsors at the function.

Hosted by Adrian Barich, it had a New Orleans feel with a pianist, mime artist and showgirls providing entertainment.

Awards were handed out across 12 categories. A special Mayor's Visionary Award, recognising an individual's outstanding contribution to the business community, went to Stan Mania.

Mr Mania initially set up a small firm in 1981 producing concrete boxes, slabs, mounds and covers for the WA plumbing market.

His Wangara-based business, Mania National, has since expanded to become a recognised national supplier.

Several businesses picked up more than one accolade with Jamel Industries Pty Ltd winning the Satterley Property Group best business with more than 20 employees and most innovative business awards.

Cafe Elixir won the Wanneroo Business Association's two awards for best new business and customer service.

Another double winner Quality Printer Cartridges picked up the Wanneroo-Joondalup Times marketing and the BGC Green Business Skills environmentally friendly awards.

The accolade for best business with 6-19 employees went to Blueprint Interiors, and Hampers by Design won the Small Business Development Corporation award for a company with fewer than five employees.

Phoenix Holden took top honours in the West Coast Institute of Training category and Onyesha Spa Pinelake picked up the Yanchep Sun City Pty Ltd award for tourism and hospitality.

Equestricare took the ECU Faculty of Business and Law award for best home-based business, and Jamel House of Fine Furniture the LandCorp award for best manufacturing business.
